HARTLAND HILL.
A. R. Fisk has returned from Boston.
Lewis and Charles Grenier and J. P. Pierce were in Fitchburg, Mass., recently.
Miss Cora Morse is on the sick list, under care of Dr. Eastman.
Miss Carrie Sanderson of Hartford is visiting her sister, Miss Edith Gove.
Mr. Green, of Densmore hill, Hartland, is moving on the Crystal Pond farm.
Roy Putnam of Gassetts is visiting his mother at C. B. Colby's.

EAST BARNARD.
Marietta Vaughan Allen, widow of Ethan W. Allen of Pomfret, died March 8 at the home of her daughter Lucy in Winthrop, Mass., where she had made her home since 1897. Mr. Allen, whom she married in 1873, died in 1890. She was a very successful teacher for some years. Mrs. Allen's older daughter, Florence, married Edwin S. Bailey, and lives on the home farm in Pomfret. Funeral services were held at Winthrop March 10, and in Pomfret March 12.

Y. M. C. A. Notes.
About fifty people enjoyed the literary program and new sugar at the Y. M. C. A. Wednesday night. Miss Buzzell recited several selections which were much appreciated.
Next week Wednesday, March 27th, Mr. Byron N. Clark of Burlington will give an illustrated lecture on "The Association Work in Vermont." All men and boys are cordially invited.

The Week's Weather.
Professor Shaw of the Northfield weather bureau's board of strategy struck twelve when he announced that there would be several wintry days, beginning with Wednesday. The mercury fell rapidly, following several warm, sunny days which started the streams, made a wreck of the roads, filled the streets with water and slush, and led some sugar makers into tapping their maples. Snow fell all Thursday forenoon, but wagons were still used by those who abandoned runners a day or two before.
The ice in the mill pond has refused to budge, through the rain of last Friday, which contributed to the slushy conditions of the first of the week, led many to look for a big show in the river.
The stage lines lost all track of schedules for a time. Monday night the Rutland stage was three hours

WOODSTOCK NEWS IN TROUBLED MEXICO

Unpleasant Experiences of Mr. and Mrs. Magenau Told in a Letter to Woodstock Relatives

Press despatches from Mexico say little about the new revolution outside of Chihuahua, but a letter received by Miss Luna B. Converse from her cousin, William Magenau, at Gomez Palacio, about a 12-hour ride from Chihuahua, gives further insight into conditions down there. Mr. Magenau, whose wife is a daughter of the late Capt. George B. French of Woodstock, is a mining engineer, but at present is in charge of a rubber factory, his house standing within the large walled yard of the building. Torreón is the junction of the International and Mexican Central railroads, and Gomez, a smaller place, is two or three miles distant. An extract from the letter follows:

"Just a hasty line to tell you of our safety. Quien sabe, but Woodstock don't know the war has begun, but we here are only too well apprised that a formidable, selfish, anarchical, irresponsible, reprehensible (and several more) movement again the government is under way.

Last Saturday Gomez was captured by a band of several hundred rebels—an irresponsible, half-drunken, half-starved bunch of hoodlums—who terrified us all. We were armed for defense and in momentary fear of being searched for munitions of war.

Early in the afternoon Federal troops from Torreón attacked and drove out the marauders, giving us the pleasant experience of having shells burst on both sides of us at a distance of a block or so, fired from two miles off. Bullets whizzed on all sides, one coming into the kitchen. G—and the children were shut up in the cellar during the four-hours' battle. Since then we have been in the possession of the Federals, being treated to frequent scares as to the return of the defeated force armed with dynamite bombs.

As soon as communication with Torreón was restored, scores of families rushed over there, but we and the Fowles joined forces, and they have slept over here for four nights past.

We have been without any mail for 31 days; food supplies are running low, and telegraphic communication has been cut most of the time. Pleasant, isn't it? But now thousands of Federal troops are pouring in, and the minister of war himself has come to Torreón to establish a base of operations against the more serious revolt in Chihuahua.

Public sentiment—heretofore an unformed, loose-jointed affair in Mexico—is crystallizing strongly in favor of the government and law and order, and it seems this inexcusable rebellion will be sat upon hard.

Thousands of Americans are rushing out, but we think lots of it is panic, and prefer to wait a few days. We will probably go then—we and the Fowles—largely on account of the children, who, thank Heaven, have remained well so far."

Company G.

After the battle of March 18, 1912, Company G sustained very severe losses, but no casualties have been reported.

It ought to be a matter of pride to the town, and the men and women in it, that Woodstock should support a company for more than one period of enlistment. Newport and Northfield and other towns no bigger than this do it and have done it. Are we getting unpatriotic?

The company needs 20 more men before April 11, 1912. If you care to support it and not have it said that this town had to give up after one short enlistment, come in. We hope that the Mexican agitation hasn't scared out all the men in town.

Here is a list of the men now available here for weekly drills:

Capt. Pember.
1st Lieut. Brownell.
2d Lieut. Thomas.
Sergt. Boyce.
Sergt. Houghton.
Sergt. Capron.
Corp. Dewey.
Corp. Farrington.
Cook Daigle.

Privates, Collins, Dickson, Durphy, Gage, G. W. Gage, G. Gibb, Lussier, Martin, Mossey, Newell, C. Do you see many familiar names in this list? Names of all the men you can think of that ought to be willing to protect their homes and country if occasion demanded? We don't think the rest of the state will be proud of Woodstock's record in this respect.

K. A. Pember
J. S. Brownell

more late into Bridgewater; on Tuesday it only got to West Bridge-water on the way over the mountain. The Ludlow stage due in Bridge-water at 6 p. m., reached there at 6 a. m. Tuesday morning, being stalled in the softened snow at Plymouth.

WOODSTOCK NOTES.

Other towns—there is a long list—are solving their fire alarm problems by installing a compressed air whistle, and the town of Dover, Mass., is one of them. Dover had a big fire a year ago and this produced the town into putting in the same fire alarm system which it is proposed to install here. The Dedham Transcript tells about it in a recent issue, the Dover people apparently being very much pleased with their new equipment. Woodstock should not wait for a devastating fire before securing better fire protection.

Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Morgan are spending a week in New Haven and New York.

The services at St. James church Sunday, March 24th, are as follows: Holy Communion at 8 o'clock, Morning Prayer and sermon 10:30, evening Prayer and address at 5 Rev. B. W. Atwell will officiate.

The ladies of the Universalist church will hold a sugar party in the church parlors, Tuesday evening, March 25th, at 6:30 o'clock. All welcome.

Horne Finley has employment on the Theodore Vail farm at Lyndonville and with his family moved there this week. Turner Maxham has rented Mr. Finley's place near the creamery.

Mrs. Lottie Roberts Warren, wife of Seth F. Warren, aged 64 years, died Monday morning, after an illness of about a year. The funeral was held Thursday afternoon. She formerly lived in Fairfax. She leaves a husband and four sons, George, Frank, Percy and Pearl.

Rev. R. LeBlanc Lynch has been quite ill of acute indigestion, and no services were held at St. James church last Sunday.

Henry Rice of West Lebanon, N. H., was in town over Sunday.

Mrs. Edward A. Abbott received word Tuesday of the death of her mother at Homer, Neb., where Mrs. Abbott recently passed a few weeks.

Wilfred Smith has been in Boston a few days.

Adams & McNichol have secured a contract for a drinking fountain, of Barre granite, which will stand in the public square at South Royalton.

President Guy Potter Benton of the University of Vermont will lecture at Music hall next Tuesday evening under the auspices of the senior class of the Woodstock High school. His subject is "Samuel Adams, Patriot."

The Gem reopened its moving picture show Wednesday evening. Pictures again tonight.

Tickets for the lecture by President Benton next Tuesday evening may be secured at A. B. Morgan's store.

J. V. Johnson, superintendent at Benson's mill the past year, has returned to the employ of A. A. Martin in Hartland.

The scarlet fever quarantine was lifted this week by Health Officer C. W. Kidder. The High school opened Monday, the grades taking another week's vacation; the Y. M. C. A. and boys' meetings were held this week and Sunday schools will be held as usual tomorrow.

About fifty couples attended Co. G's second drill dance Monday evening and was a very successful affair. Sherwin's orchestra played for the warriors and their ladies. Supper was served by the members of Co. G at 6:30, and E. O. McFarlane was caterer for the supper later in the evening.

Miss Olive Holbrook is at home for the Easter vacation.

Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Brownell have taken for two years O. A. Whitcomb's house on North street, formerly occupied by Major Hoare, and moved there this week. Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Thomas will at once move into their house, vacated by the Brownells.

B. E. Chellis, J. Nalibow and Otto Yunker, representing the local camp, attended the state convention of Modern Woodmen of America, held at White River Junction last week Friday.

Dr. R. W. Boyce has bought the Byron Thomas farm in the "edge of Pomfret," on the road from the Charles Montague farm to South Pomfret. Dr. Boyce and his family will pass the summer there.

National Guard May Garrison Fort Ethan Allen.

Members of the Vermont National Guard are interested in the orders issued to the various company commanders to have their commands ready to entrain at short notice.

The 10th cavalry, U. S. A., at Fort Ethan Allen has had the full field kit packed for shipment for over two weeks.

It is not believed that the 1st infantry, V. N. G., will be sent to the Mexican border, but it is possible that in case the 10th receives orders to take station in Texas or some of the other border states to assist in patrol work, the Vermont troops might be mobilized at Fort Ethan Allen for a time.

LAW NOTES.

In the case of Dan W. Howe, bankrupt, guardian of Herbert E. Mason vs. Margaret A. Mason of Woodstock, pending in Orange county court of chancery, Chancellor Butler has filed a decision dismissing the bill with costs. This was a proceeding in chancery to have certain facts declared in reference to the Pickle notes of $3500. The chancellor decided that there is no trust and that the notes were made payable to Mr. Mason in payment for the indebtedness of H. E. Mason her husband, to her. M. M. Wilson for proctor, Gilbert A. Davis for defendant.

In the case of White River Tavern Co., of Hartford, the first meeting of creditors was held at White River Junction on the 18th inst., before G. A. Davis, referee. Claims to the amount of $1589.07 were proved and allowed and Roland E. Stevens was elected trustee, having received the votes of a majority in number and amounts of the creditors not entitled to priority. Arthur B. Wilder of Woodstock, A. T. Fairfield of Hanover, N. H., and W. G. Bowles of Norwich were appointed appraisers.

Fred Brissette of Norwich has been adjudged a voluntary bankrupt and the case referred to Gilbert A. Davis, referee. The schedules assets of $1129 of which $267 is claimed as exempt and liabilities of $1497.25 of which $425 are secured.
